Chamber of Commerce Asks Immediate Action.

Legislation Committee Objects to Clause in Gallinger Measure Providing Fine and Jail for Usurers. Future Meetings of Organization.

"Resolved, That the lack of street car facilities to reach the Union Station is a daily menace, not alone to the comfort of those who arrive at the depot or who go there to take trains, but is actually a has passed both Houses of Congress."

Tracks to the Union Station usury, and luncheons on meeting nights were some of the interesting topics discussed at last night's meeting of teh Chamber of Com-

The matter of tracks to the Union Station was brought up by a resolution offered by H. C. C. Stiles, of which the foregoing is the text. The original resolution contained a suggestion that the conference committee eliminate the "cum bering riders' to the bill and give the District the advantages of street car transit to the station.

This form of placing the chamber on record was objected to by several members, and the resolution was amended to cussed at some length by J. H. Magruder H. C. Stiles, Allen D. Albert, Albert Schulties, D. S. Porter, and A. S. Trindle.

The subject of usury was introduced by Wilton Lambert, who read the Gallinger bill on the subject. This bill provides a penal clause for exacting usorious interest on loans, and has made some progress on its passage through Congress. The subject was discussed by several of Lambert, J. H. Ralston, and Chapin Brown, the last two taking a strong stand against the exaction of a jall penalty or fine for the practice of usury.

the code, and suggested that certain amendments be made, which were worked out by a committee of the chambe early in the winter. Finally, a motion was carried instructing the committee on legislation to confer with the Senate and House committee, and present objections to the penal clause in the Gallinger bill.

Pittsburg, May 12.-William Montgomery, the defaulting cashier of the Allegheny National Bank, who had been free under $50,000 bail, was delivered to the court this afternoon at 4 o'clock by his bondsman, George F. Tener, after it had been discovered by the bank examiner, William L. Folds, that Montgomery's defalcation would reach at least $1,250,000, instead of $469,000 as originally announced.

Continued threats on the part of Montgomery to commit suicide also caused Tener to want some one else to share the responsibility with him.

Four hours after Montgomery's second arrest he was again released, after his bail had been increased to $100,000. Tener agreed to be responsible for his appearance in the original amount of $50,000, while Richard R. Quay, son of the late Sena-tor M. S. Quay, went on the hood for the hoo tor M. S. ## BRYAN PUTS IN BUSY DAY.

Greets Friends, Delivers Address, and Dines with the President.

Among the notable persons who arrived here yesterday in the vanguard to the conference that has been called by President Roosevelt to consider the preservation of the natural resources of the United States was William Jennings Bryan. Mr. Bryan, from the time he arrived from Chicago until a late hour last night, was kept busy, but he emphaticalannounced there was no political significance in his visit.

Mr. Bryan took dinner at the Raleigh with Willis J. Abbott, and later in the afternoon addressed the National Drain-age Association. The intervening hours were spent in visiting friends throughout the city. Last evening he dined at the White House as the guest of the President. He will take part in the conference of the governors at the White House to-day. It is his intention to leave Washington to-morrow or Friday for his home at Lincoln, Nebr.
